

Plant Adaptations

pollen

the powder inside flowers that is needed for reproducing reproduce

to have offspring and produce new individuals of the same kind adapt to change to fit into an environment

nutrients

foods or minerals that help plants and animals survive

habitat

a place where a plant or animal lives, its environment